Boby,

It has been a very nice experience knowing you this year. Even though you were not as close to me as I would have wanted you to be you were close enough. Before you get back to school next fall I will have done something to show myself approval. you are more than I can describe, in that the world does not have enough words to cover you. you are all I can say is etc. etc. etc. I would like to take your family as mine because it is so complete. with mouse, kelly, your Siamese cat, and your other dogs. that's all to make a family complete with me and I also. So Boby keep cool, and stay away from other boys who do not have the L.B. that I have O.K.?

VOLUME XXX

KNOB NOSTER HIGH SCHOOL KNOB NOSTER, MISSOURI

DEDICATED TO MRS. SHIRLEY EVANS

"When love and skill work together, expect a masterpiece."
Ruskin

These are just a few words, but the meaning behind them expresses an ideal thought.

With a sense of unselfishness and devotion, Mrs. Shirley Evans has given her all as sponsor of our Student Council. Only true devotion could motivate a person to spend extra hours every day with a group of students and faculty for no personal benefit.

Because of the love and skill exhibited by Mrs. Evans in furthering the development of KNHS students and the school environment, we, the 1970-71 KNOBNA staff, dedicate this, the 30th edition of the KNOBNA, to her.

The basketball game was a very exciting one. The home team won by a score of 25 to 20. The game was played in the gymnasium. The crowd was very large and the atmosphere was very lively. The game was a very close one and the

JOG-G- ON-N

Upon finishing one and one half to three miles of a rugged cross-country course, the most immediate result is complete exhaustion. Later come the consequences including aching muscles, stinging thirst, and gnawing hunger. Not until the last runner is in and the times are made known does the pride of each KNHS participant show through. His pride is in knowing that he has acquired the ability, strength, and endurance to accomplish a most grueling task—that of completing the cross-country course.

With boundless energy, the Panthers started another big race.

THEY'RE RUFF 'N TUFF

Touchdowns, tackles, interceptions, passes, blocks, victories, and even defeats play a large part in the lives of the KNHS Varsity Football team. Long hours of enduring practice quickened the reactions of the athletes and prepared them for future games. The players who received injuries continued to give moral support to the boys who were still fighting. With the help of Donal Bruns and his coaching staff the 1970-71 season ended with five wins and four losses.

HERE WE GO

Under the guidance of Coach Parker the 1970-71 Basketball season was a success. Coach and the boys practiced night after night to learn new plays, work more on old ones, and to get their timing set. Each boy wasn't the star of every game, but each had a special part to play in every battle. Teamwork is always necessary and the Panthers exhibited it well.

Two thirds of the team members were Seniors, leaving only three boys to return next year. The Class of '74 now has a chance to show its ability by trying to make next year's Panthers the best in the state.

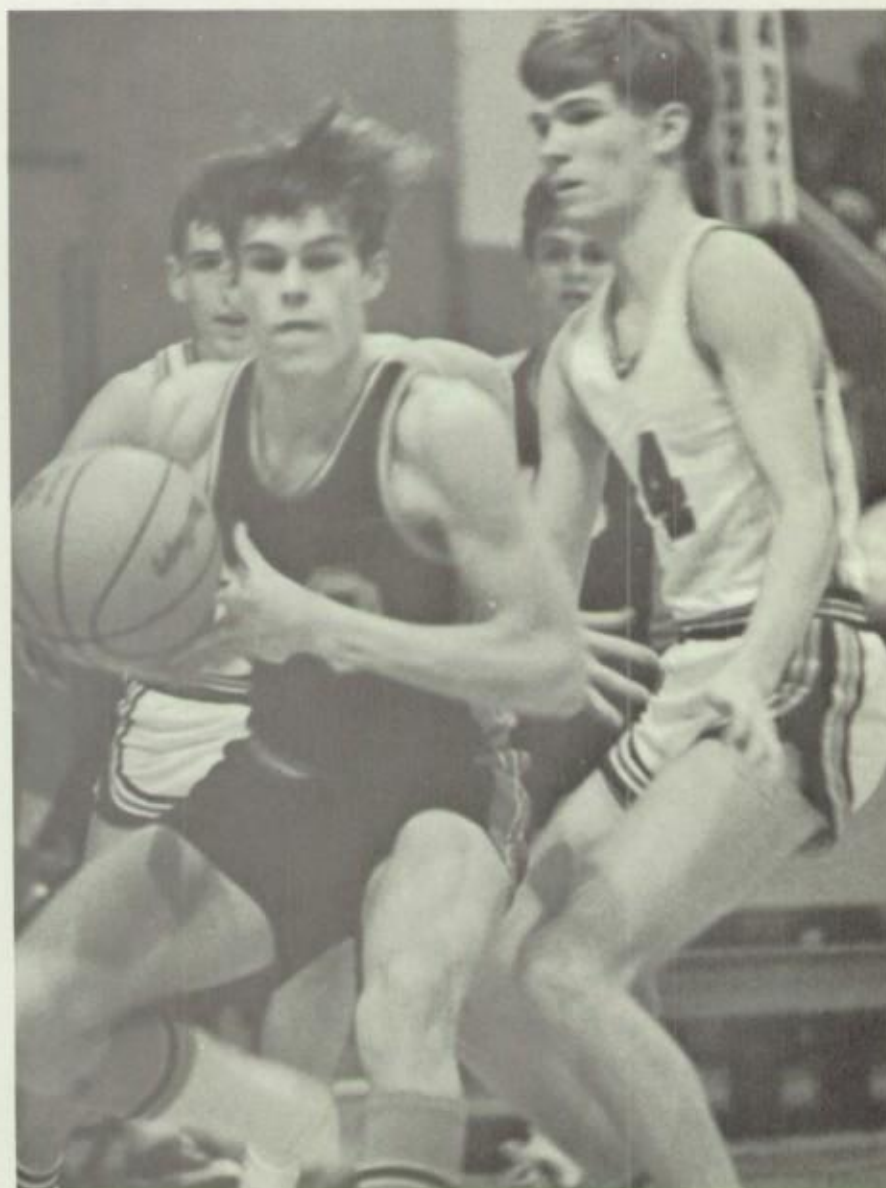

Coach outlines strategic plays for the game.

ACTIVITIES

BARNYARD JAMBOREE

The Knobna staff hosted a barn dance to kick off 1970-71 yearbook sales. In keeping with the casual setting, company came in jeans and sweatshirts.

Many hours of hard work went into the creation of the barnyard setting. The friendly and relaxed atmosphere was complimented by bales of hay placed around the gym and "Flossy" the cow.

Apple cider served from stone jars and home-made farm-hand-size cookies were provided to relieve hunger pangs of the guests.

Five boys from KNHS banded together to provide the music for the night.

EASY RIDER HOSTS

The Panther spirit really came alive during Homecoming week. The Student Council planned dress for the week which included a dress down day to show how bad the Pleasant Hill Roosters would look after their defeat, a dress up day to show how good the Panthers would look throughout the game, a day of mourning for the Roosters, and finally a school colors day to show we were with our team all the way.

Our team went onto the field with great enthusiasm and came off at the end of the game with the joyous pride of victory.

The Homecoming dance was attended by a record crowd. Everyone unwound in true victory spirit to the sounds of the Rising Sun and replenished their energy with apple punch and cookies.

PANTHER POWER

An active organization at KNHS this year was the Pep Club. These girls worked with the cheerleaders to promote school spirit. Attending games, making extra posters, and selling booster buttons were responsibilities of members. The custom of earning letters was revived and many girls lettered.

Row 1: R. Agueros, S. Miller, D. Grooms. Row 2: V. Bollenbach, P. Rehkop, Row 3: C. Hoffpauir.

The Freshman Pep Club members exhibited lots of school spirit and enthusiasm for their teams all year. The learning of new cheers and screaming until you can't talk were new experiences which will prepare these girls for Varsity Pep Club next year.

SPIRIT BOOSTERS

The muted roll of drums and the soft pad of tennis shoes announced the entrance of the KNHS drill team. Exhibiting a well mixed combination of rhythm, talent, and routine, the group became a special attraction of home basketball games. These girls worked hard learning new routines and always made them look easy.

The purpose of the Lettermen's Club is to promote good sportsmanship and to maintain high standards among athletes. Their main project this year was selling T-shirts to raise money for a whirlpool bath for the athletic department. The lettermen contributed much time and skill to excelling in sports and exhibiting school spirit.

PANTHER PULITZER

The Panther's Cry Staff worked diligently all year to publish the best school paper possible. Every two weeks a deadline had to be met which meant many nights after school working on special articles, making interviews, attending activities, and reporting on any school events. The staff made a fine show with each paper and was appreciated by all.

KNHS won president for 1970-71 over twenty other schools in our district.

Many of the fantastic dances were sponsored by the Student Council.

The Student Council is the only organization which embraces the whole realm of school life—including the individual, his organizations, and his daily school life. The Student Council is basic to the welfare of each student. It coordinates student activities and serves as the link between administration and students. This year the KNHS Student Council was proud to have won the honor of being our district's President.

The Future Teachers' Association was an active club this year. During National Education Week and on Teacher Appreciation Day, the faculty members were rewarded with juicy, red apples and name tags furnished by the members of FTA. Cadet-teaching grew this year with ten students observing and giving aid to teachers in the class of their choice.

TION TO SERVE"

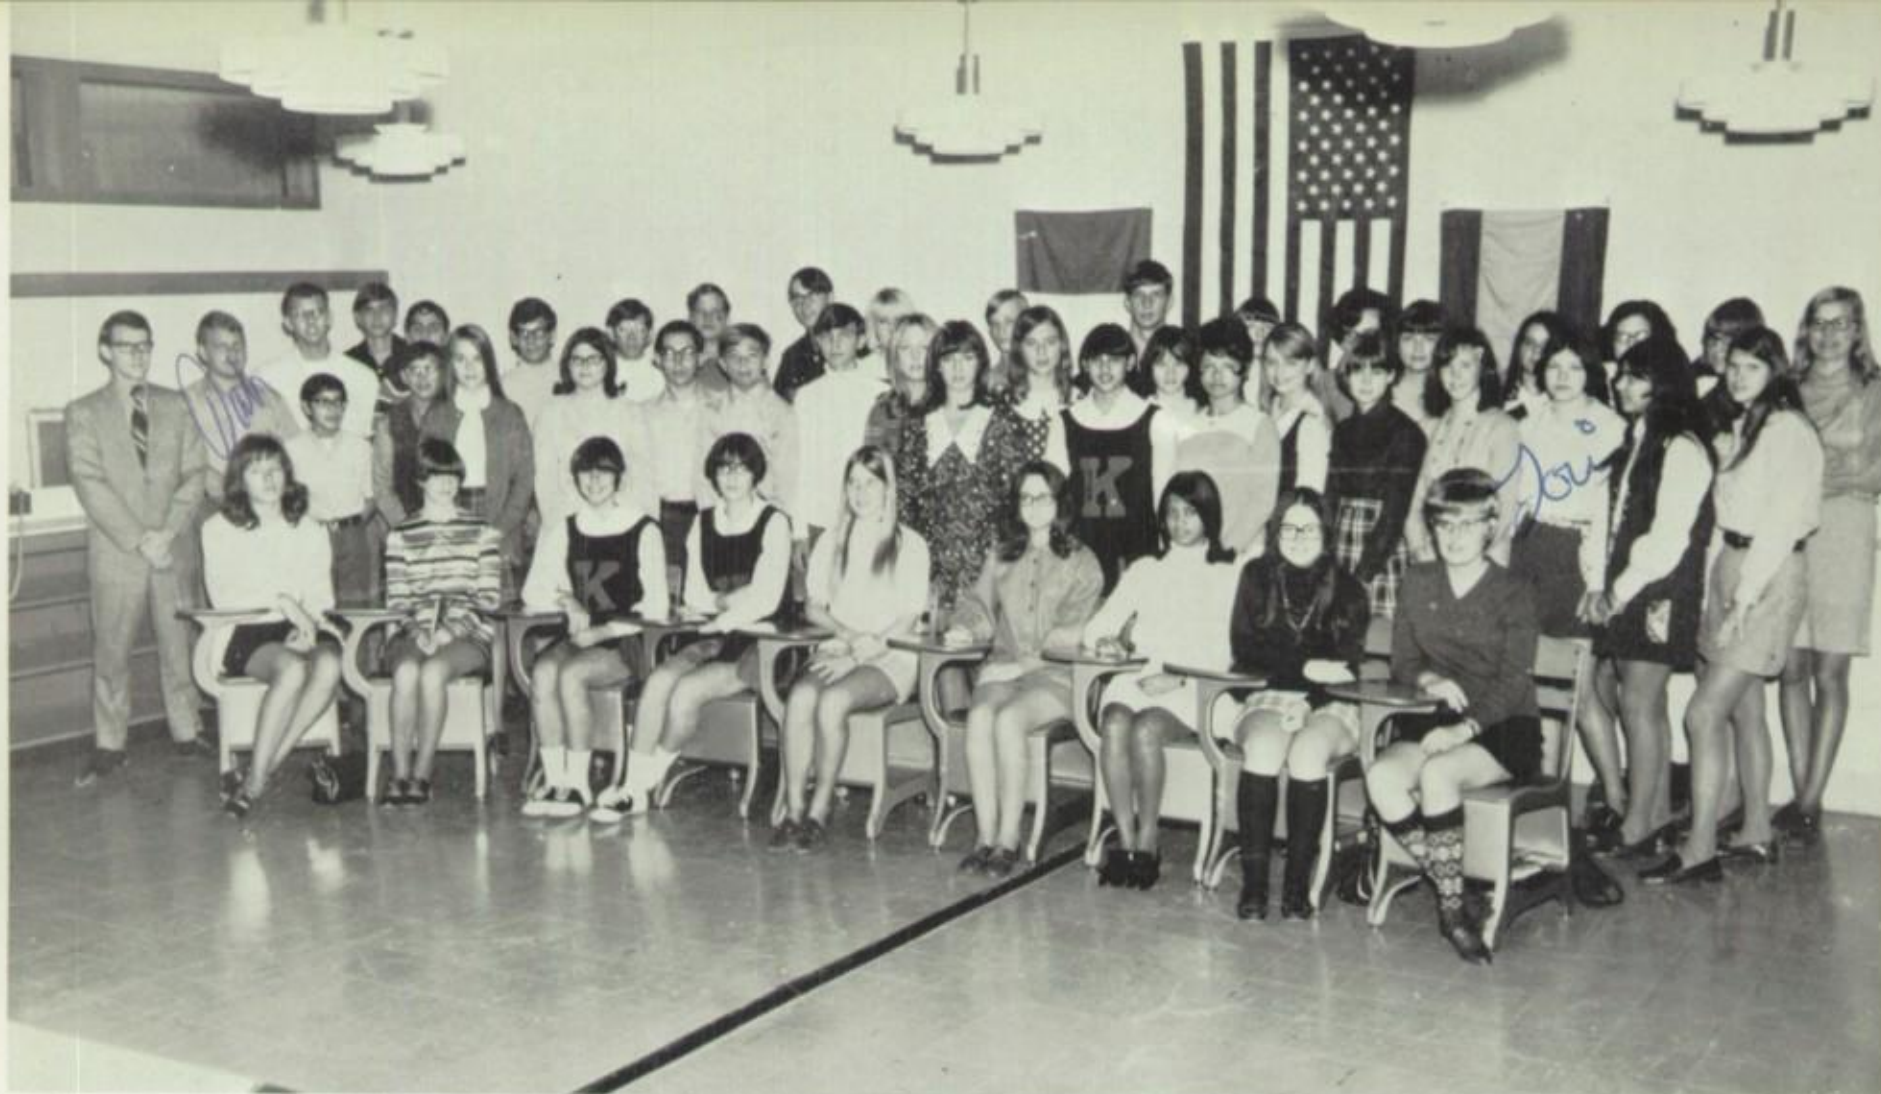

The purpose of the Future Homemakers was to work toward good family and community life. Checking a coat or hat at the basketball tournament, working on the decorations for the first Sweetheart Dance, and planning the Mother-Daughter Banquet have helped the members apply their home economics knowledge in constructive ways.

One of the newer organizations around our club scene this year was the Writers' Club. Under the guidance of Mrs. Kara Whisner, it worked to promote creative writing throughout the student body. Still in its infant stage, the Writers' Club sponsored only one project—an annual magazine of original student works.

MEMORIES

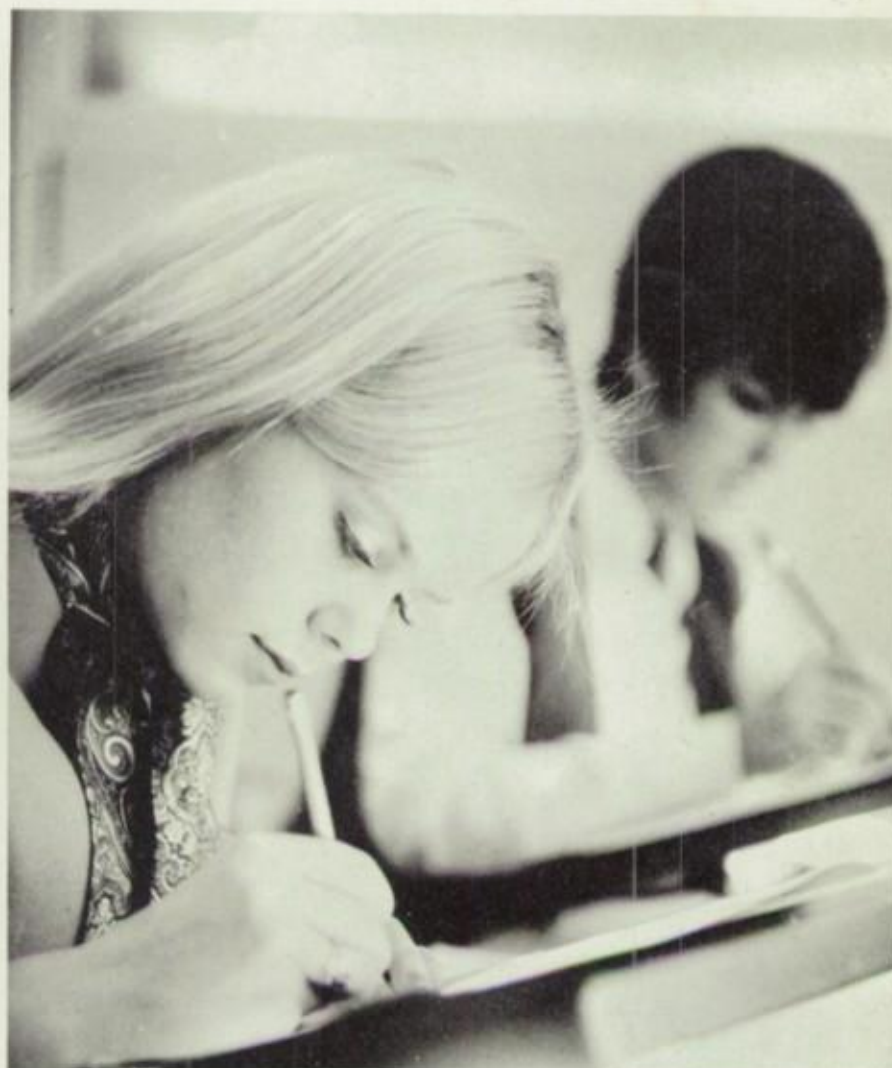

Snapping pictures, pondering over headlines, and sketching layouts were some of the various jobs performed by this year's Knobna staff. Fifty years ago, the first Knobna was published, and this year the staff members have worked with great determination and spirit—attempting to convert emotions and memories into photographs and pieces of copy. The staff is proud of this Knobna and we hope it brings back special memories of both good and bad events of the 1970-71 school year.

Success of an Annual is often determined by the photographers' skill.

Vicky Johnson and George Wiarda draw up the final layouts for the yearbook.

Patience is the key to successful picture cropping.

SINGING ALONG

The Mixed Chorus and the Girls' Glee Club have presented numerous programs this year. Both groups appeared eager to participate in the Thanksgiving assembly, the Christmas Operetta, and spring musical, and to present special numbers for various civic organizations. A lot of spirit and energy was added to each member's talent to make these organizations' performances one that the KNHS student body is proud of.

MUSICAL SPIRIT

The drum major and majorettes exhibited skill while leading the band.

From the grandstand it resembles a huge, black, furry mass. Then, as it draws near the crowd, the drum cadence picks up and the ranks move into formations. The members of the KNHS band keep in step, holding their heads high, confident that they will perform well.

During their show the crowd feels a pride radiating from each member. That pride is in knowing that they are members of the KNHS marching Panthers.

Concentration and daily practice help the band accomplish its goal.

ADMINISTRATION

LEADERS

"We've only just begun . . ." These words from a popular song might very well have been written by some members of the school administration. The School Board stands out in the fight for a well organized school. These men devote their time and effort to forward this goal. The superintendent and principals are also important, for without them, this school would not stand where it is today. Every gathering has a leader and our leader is the school itself, personified through the administration. And yet they've only begun, to work toward a school that is so much better in every way.

School Board members are James Jageman, Glenn Frisbee, Cletus Tucker, George Strickland, and Rodger Boyle.

Mr. Melvin Foster, President of the School Board

Mr. James Jageman, Superintendent

Mr. Dale Everts, Vice-President of the School Board

Mr. Fred Frye, Curriculum Director and Junior High Counselor

Mr. Richard Roda, Senior High Principal

Mr. John Parker, Assistant Principal

Mrs. Rita Tomburrini, Counselor

The counselors really stand out this year. Both are new to the job and both are breaking in at KNHS. Both have a variety of tasks. They help students with schedules, college plans and other problems. They are also the ones who hand out the various national tests given throughout the year.

Mrs. Doris Young and Mrs. Norma Elmore, Secretaries

Another important position belongs to the secretaries. It's always possible to find one or the other typing letters, running up and down the halls, answering questions, and selling the all important gym suits. Both of these people are much a part of the school and both are appreciated by teachers and students.

THEY MOLD THE FUTURE

Mr. James Bolles: CMSC; Bachelor of Science in Education, Bachelor of Science in Industrial Technology. General Metals, General Shop, Mechanical Drawing, Electricity.

Mr. Don Bruns: CMSC; Bachelor of Science in Education. Health, Physical Education, Head Football Coach.

Mrs. Delores Craig: CMSC; Master of Arts in History. Economics, World History.

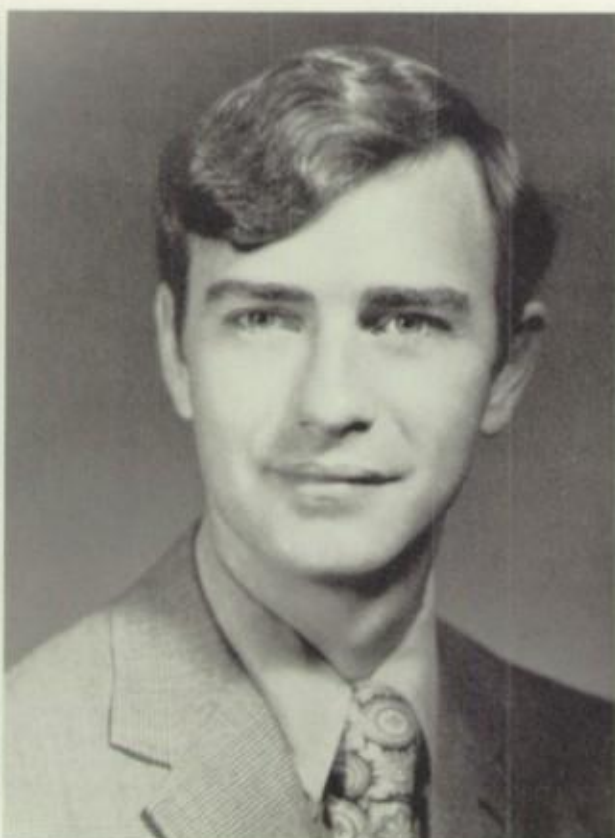

Mrs. Shirley Evans: CMSC; Bachelor of Science in Business Education. Office Machines, Clerical Practice, Secretarial Practice, Typing.

The roar of a class discussion and the silence during a vocabulary test were among the varying moods of the English classes. The anguish of rushing to meet deadlines and the consistent pressure to be accurate and original prevailed in the yearbook and journalism classes.

Mr. Kenneth Fain: CMSC; Bachelor of Science in Education. American History (9,11).

Mr. Durward Faries, Jr.: CMSC; Bachelor of Science in Education. Driver Education.

Mrs. Mary Lynn Farmer: CMSC; Bachelor of Science in Education. Physical Education.

Why did we study history? We did it because each of us was concerned with the state our world was in. By studying history, we sought an insight to our present problems by looking objectively at our past actions and attempting to help correct the mistakes.

Accuracy with speed was the goal set before each 1970-71 business education student. The accomplishment of this goal was achieved by hard work whether using an office machine or typing.

Mrs. Jean Foster: CMSC; Bachelor of Music in Education. Instrumental Music, Fundamentals of Music.

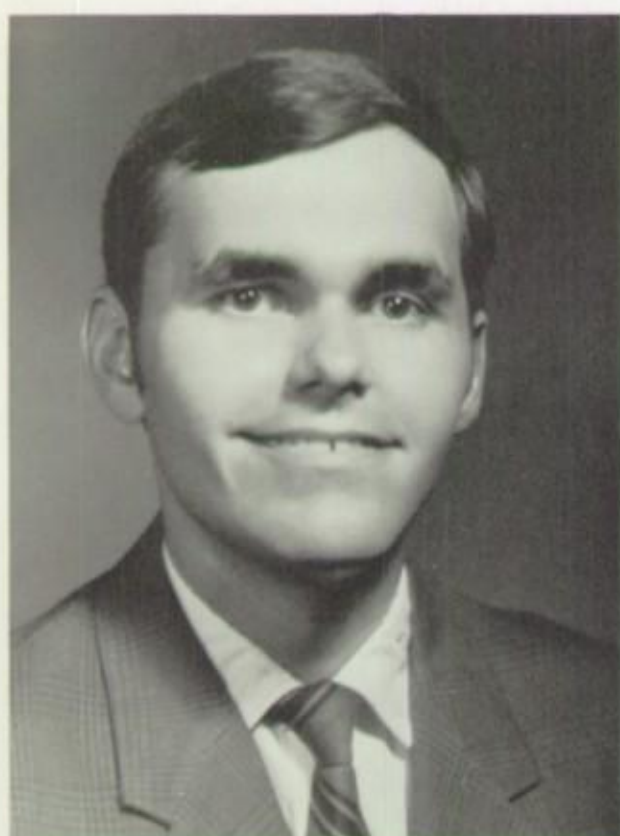

Mrs. Betty Kauffman: CMSC; Master of Science in Mathematics Education. geometry, Algebra I.

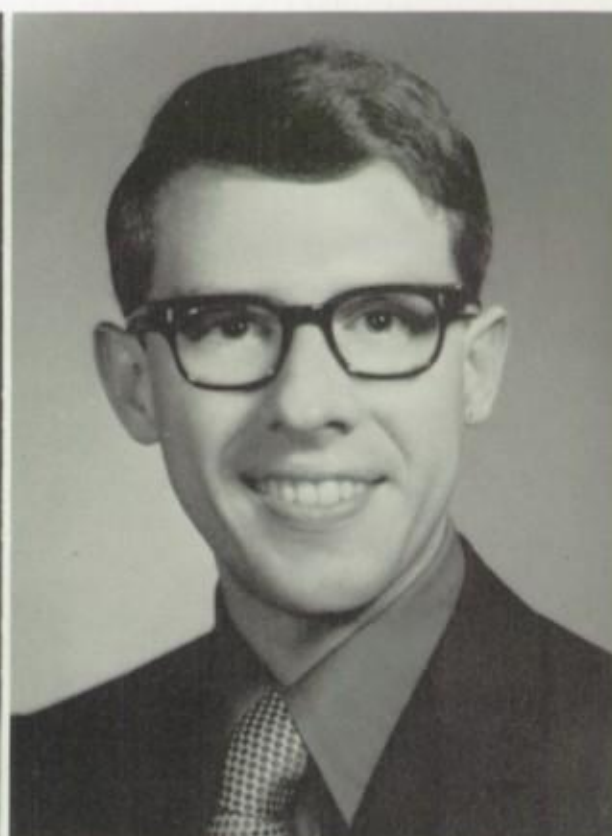

The smell of cookies baking and yeast bread rising were common in the home economics department. The look on an underclassman's face upon the completion of her first garment is also part of this department.

Mr. Robert Knapp: CMSC; Bachelor of Science in Education. physical science.

Mrs. Ruthe Koenig: CMSC; Master of Arts in History, Bachelor of Arts in English. English III, American history (9).

Mr. Robert Lawler: CMSC; Bachelor of Science in Education. Spanish, French.

Mr. Cecil Long: University of Missouri; Master of Education in Physical Education. Physical Science, Athletic Director, Head Track and Cross-Country Coach.

Mrs. Hallye Miles: University of Kansas; Bachelor of Science in Education. Reading, English III.

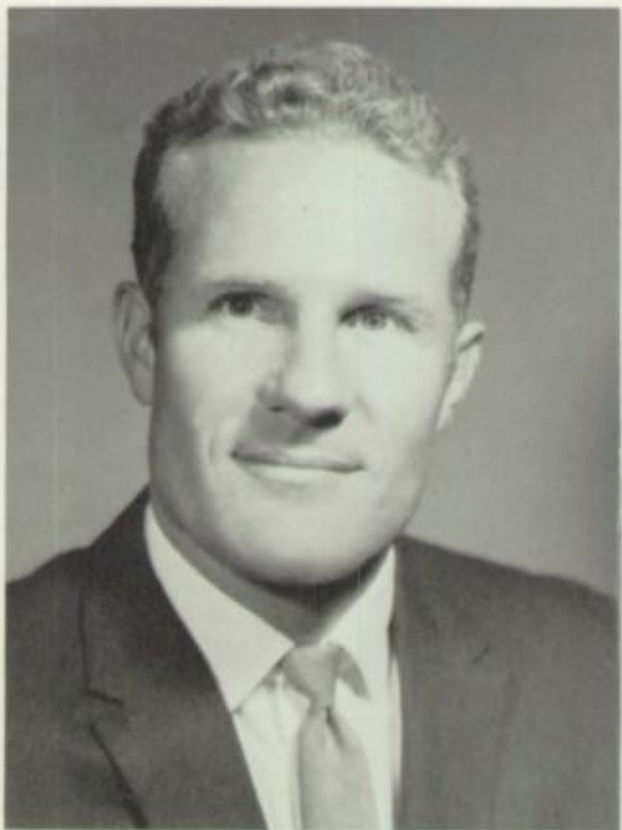

Mrs. Nancy Ohlendorf: University of Texas at Austin; Bachelor of Science in Education. English I, Pre-algebra.

The path to the future belongs to science. Whether it is the simplest phase of geology or the most complicated problem of nuclear physics, the science department can provide the avid student with a start to an exciting hobby or career.

The unending search for knowledge was carried on by the 1970-71 math department. Minds were stimulated by teachers who used the most up-to-date materials. Though all the answers weren't found, the students delved into all problems with energy.

Mr. Dean Parrott: CMSC; Bachelor of Science in Education. General Wood, General Shop, Basic Math II.

Mrs. Caroline Rietbrock: Wisconsin State University; Bachelor of Education in Business Education. Basic Business, Typing.

Mrs. Katherine Robb: CMSC; Master of Arts in History, Bachelor of Arts in Chemistry. Chemistry, Foreign Policy and International Affairs, World Geography, Advanced Biology.

The whine of a saw and the pounding of hammers sounded loud in the shop. Here and there cries of anguish filtered through as a piece fell short of fitting. Less often were the satisfied sighs of success at first attempts.

Mr. Dixon C. Rogers: University of South Dakota; Masters in Natural Science. Physics, Geometry, Basic Math I, Advanced Algebra and Trigonometry.

Mrs. Janice Reynolds: CMSC; Master of Science in Special Education. Special Education.

The strange sounds that echo down the halls were almost sure to be coming from the foreign language classes. These classes were among the most frustrating but challenging of the curriculum. In the end the students' pride in their work shown through as they were able to converse with each other.

Mrs. Sandra Russell: University of Florida; Bachelor of Arts in Language Arts Education. School Publications, English I, III, IV.

Mrs. Barbara Schell: CMSC; Master of Science in Education. Home Economics I, II, III.

Mrs. Patty Schroeder: CMSC; Bachelor of Music Education. Mixed Chorus, Girls Glee Club.

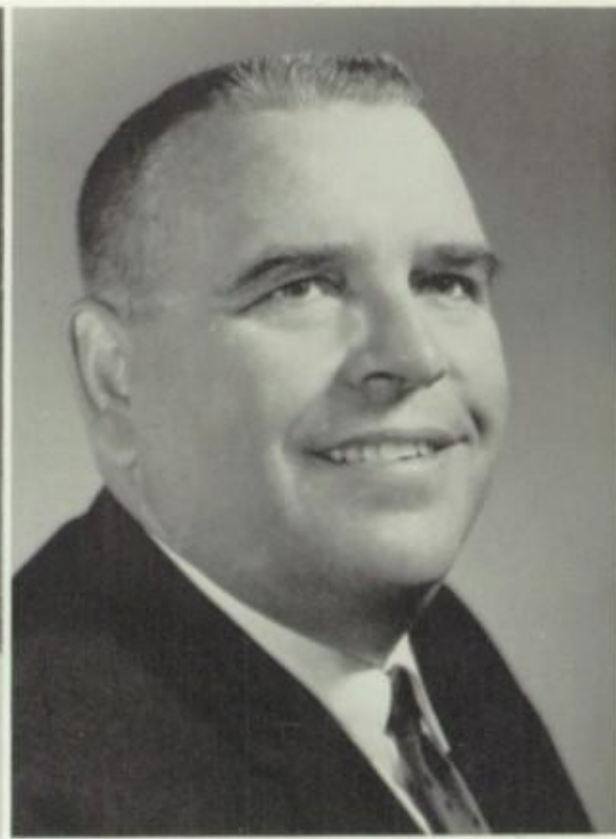

Mrs. Sue Scott: CMSC; Master of Science in Library Science. Librarian.

Mrs. Judy Tipton: CMSC; Master of Science in Education. Shorthand, Bookkeeping, Basic Business.

Mrs. Kara Whisner: CMSC; Bachelor of Science in Education. Journalism, English II.

Mr. John Williams: University of Missouri; Master of Education in Health and Physical Education. Biology, Physical Education, Coach.

Always striving for perfection in their performances were the band and vocal music groups. The band displayed spirit while participating in parades and at football games. The same kind of spirit was exhibited by the vocal students as they worked toward selection for an ensemble.

A racing engine, a screech of brakes, and the sigh of an upset teacher began again as the 1970-71 students took on the challenge of learning driving skills in a standard shift car.

Mrs. Opal Williams: CMSC; Master of Arts in Education. Art I, II, III.

There was an excited yell as an arrow thudded into the target after missing it fifty times. There was a yell of pain from a boy who got his shins kicked . . . by accident? Determination was the name of the game in P.E.

Mrs. Evans spots another victim for the Dress Code Committee to discuss.

Work such as paintings, pieces of pottery, and leather goods enhanced the art room where each student was able to express himself through his art work.

Mr. Rogers and Coach Long, repairing science equipment, make a good team.

Mr. Fain diligently plans the next history test.

ALWAYS THERE

A mountain of 1200 hundred rolls? Yes, your eyes are right! This was what you could find during a visit to the kitchen. The cooks prepared meals for 520 people daily. Mrs. Norma Rook is a registered nurse. She served all the schools in our district by spending a day at a time in each.

MOVING MEN

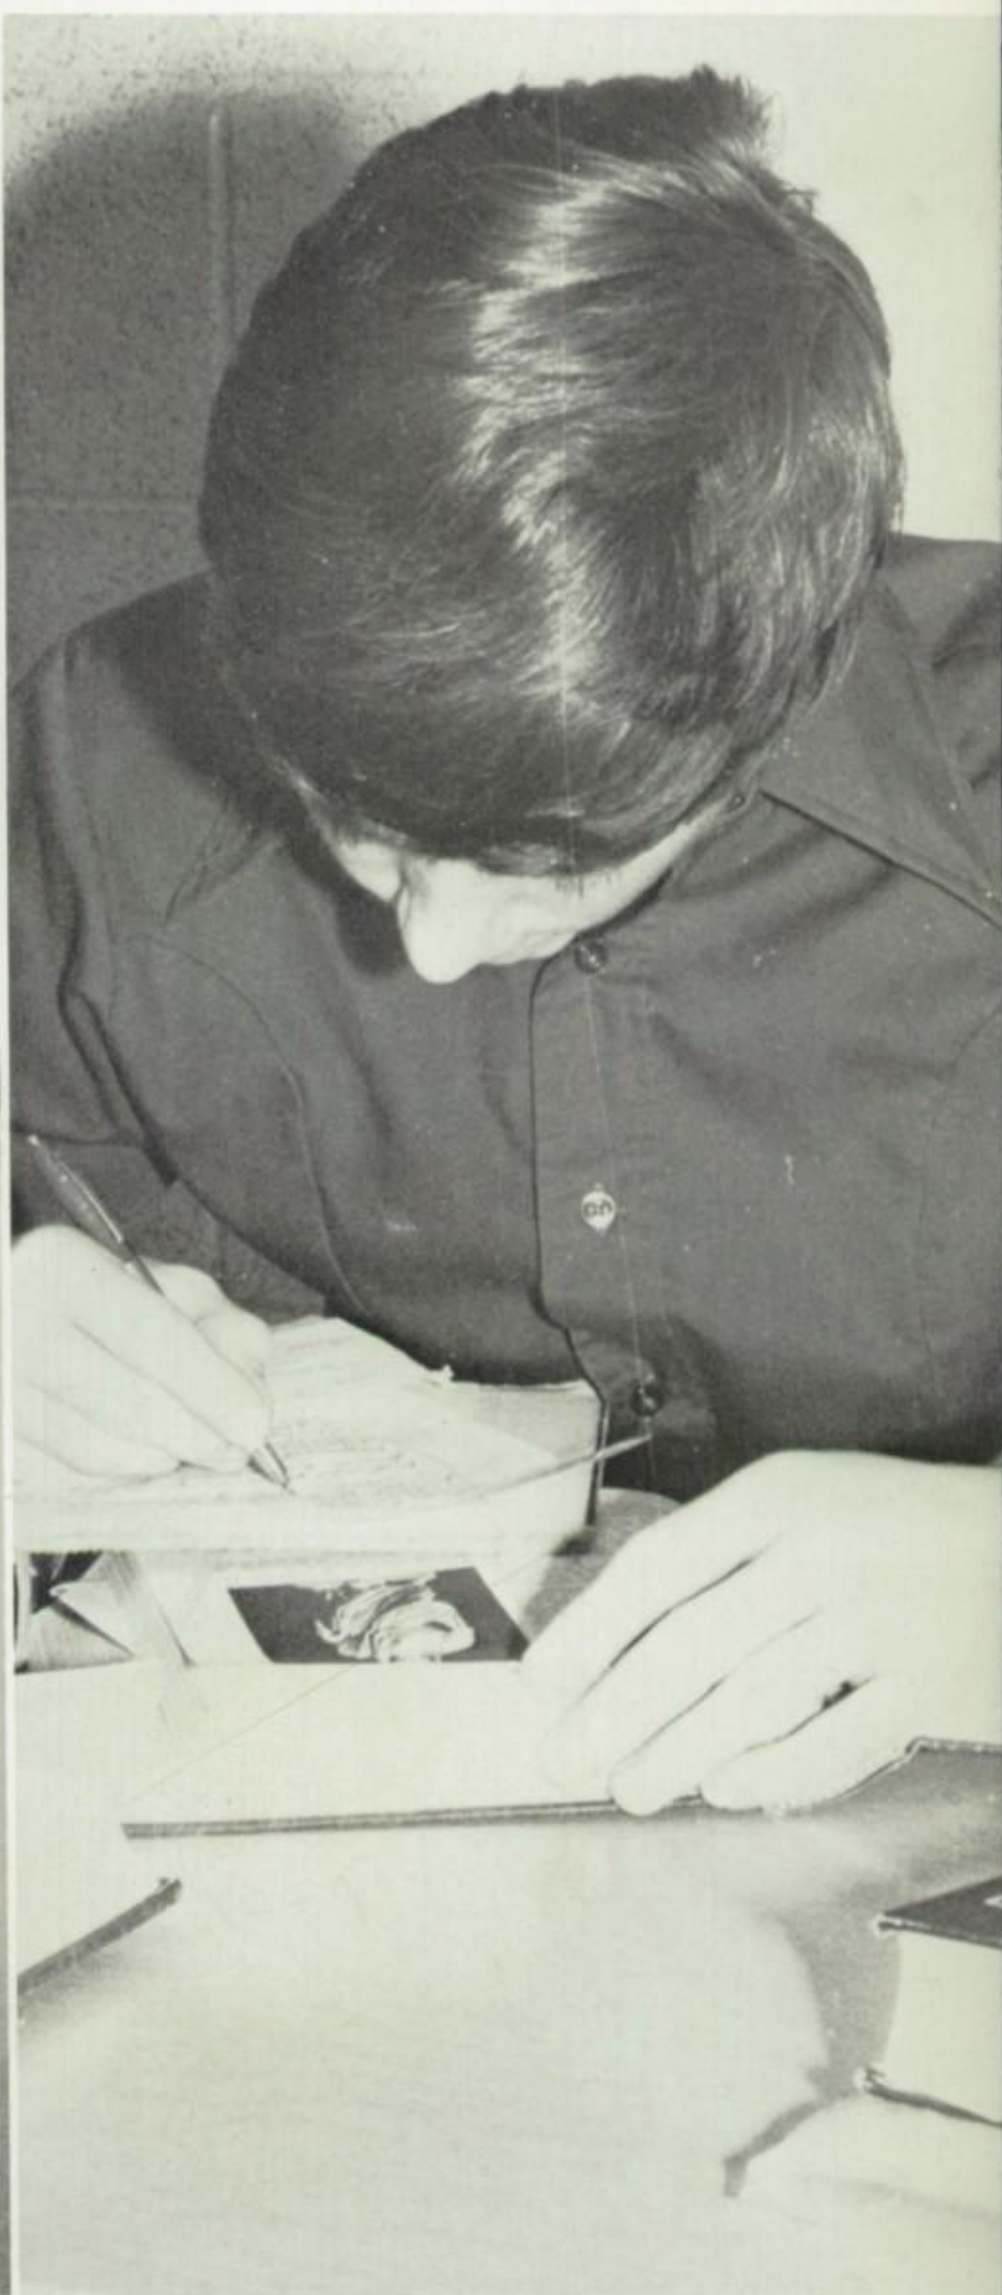

The two people most widely called upon for any need at school seemed to be Milton and Lester. They were loyally here every day to carry out their routine duties and solved many small crises, such as jammed lockers or burned out lights. If you feel like you really have to get up early to catch a bus just think about how early your bus drivers had to rise. They rarely receive compliments but are greatly appreciated.

CLASSES

Wide-eyed with anticipation, the Freshmen made their way through a new frontier. Being the largest class in KNHS history, with 191 members, proved to be an advantage to the Class of '74 as they realized that unified they too could accomplish great goals. The spirit necessary for this unification was implanted with the first pep assembly and continued to flourish with the organization of class officers, Student Council representatives, Freshman teams, pep club, and cheerleaders. Their original bashful attitude was soon pushed aside to make room for the realization that the Freshman class, too, is a segment of the unified body of students.

Freshman class officers are Kathy Galloway, treasurer; Debbie Brennan, secretary; Coley Brookshire, president; Leigh Finner, vice-president.

Oh no, it's one of those multiple guess tests!

Do you see what I see?

With the glory of being veterans to the Panther regime comes a certain pride in being slightly superior. The sophomores joined with the upperclassmen in athletics and discovered a greater desire to unite with other classes to produce a more favorable high school in every aspect. Sophomores were allowed to exhibit their sense of maturity to a greater degree. They had more representation in organizations and extra-curricular activities—a reward which comes with knowledge and experience. Their involvement established the spirit within the Class of '73 which spurred them ahead to accept the responsibility that comes with leadership.

Sophomore officers are Mark Blevins, president; Cheryl Neitzert, secretary; Linda Schuck, treasurer; Steve Elmore, vice-president.

The Juniors skillfully learned to acquire a sense of observation as they realized that within an amazingly short span of time, they would be the superior force. Within the bounds of their 135 members lay a keen desire for superior knowledge, outstanding athletics, and notable achievement. They strived throughout the year to represent their school with enthusiasm and make secretive plans for a spectacular Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom. Their unification of varied types of individuals produced a cross-section of mankind; enthusiastic and spirited to such a degree that the Class of '72 answered the beckoning call of KNHS with students willing to become involved.

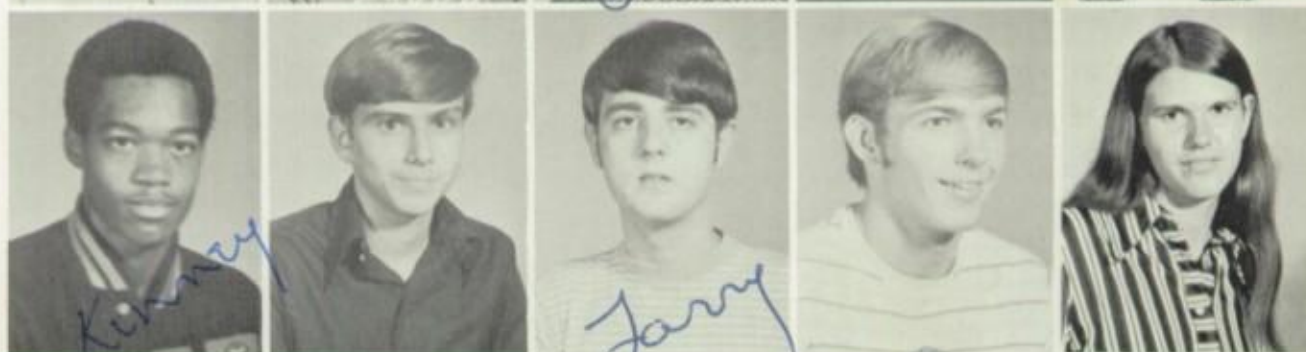

Swinging officers of the junior class are Debbie Stinson, treasurer; Brenda Greer, president; John MacDonald, vice-president; Marsha McCown, secretary.

WARRENSBURG

Q #2

Senior Class Officers: Steve Henson, President; Nancy Simmons, Vice President; Kay Mills, Secretary; Cindy Almaguer, Treasurer.

Each of the four grades at Knob High has its own place, with Senior being the last and most important step. Even though the Class of '71 will soon break the continuity of the steps, they will leave their mark. Its members have assumed numerable responsibilities in both scholarship and extracurricular phases of school life.

Seniors of '71 have experienced the bewilderment of the first day in their Freshman year, the opening of new doors in their Sophomore year, the insurmountable pride of seeing a job well done on Prom night in their Junior year, and the joy and excitement of baccalaureate and graduation day to finish the sequence.

Well, here I am signing my big sisters' book. I just don't know what to think. I really am lucky to have a big sis like you. Thanks for all the fun times you've given me. I think we're two of the most closest sisters that ever was. We've gotten into a lot of trouble together but we've also spent a lot of happy moments together. Wish me luck with Noland and all wish you luck with whoever it may be. Hope your year comes soon. Even if you don't make it this year you should make it before me. Good luck in the Within these pages we have endeavored to capture the thoughts, emotions, and events of this school year. Condensed into pictures and words they are all that remain of the 1970-71 school year. For all who read the KNOBNA, these elements are the keys to more exact and personal memories.

Throughout the year KNHS students harnessed their enthusiasm to produce devoted teams in all fields of athletics. The spirit of the team was transmitted to the spectators—gripping them in the ecstatic thrill of victory and the numbing agony following defeat.

Students became involved in various organizations and exhibited their spirit by taking active parts in school and community affairs.

Scholastically, each student progressed to a higher level. With grade cards came expressions of disappointment for some and, for others, contentment at having achieved their goals. Alterations in the curriculum, along with fine instruction resulted in a well-rounded student body.

The freshmen are more mature, wiser, and better informed than were they when they began the year. The sophomores have become upperclassmen attempting to fulfill their challenge of becoming better citizens. The juniors are pursuing their last high school achievement—taking the place of the Class of '71. For the seniors, the year began with the joy and excitement of getting rings and pictures. Then as graduation came closer, the happiness turned to sadness of leaving the school they love and to apprehension of facing the years ahead.

Bobbie,
 to a girl that sat next to me in study hall, had fun to talk to you and listening to him to you and listening to Callwell & Rich his nos.
 Hope to see you next year

Well, here it is at the end of a shitty school year. Shada has got me so pissed I might have trouble enjoying my vacation. I'll remember you always. I'll leave this summer so you'll have to give me something to remember you by.
 Love always
